

Letter of Recommendation

To Whom It May Concern

I am pleased to recommend Mr. Devpal Singh Anand, who successfully completed a 45-day internship in Data Analytics at iNeuBytes Technology & Services Private Limited. His internship work covered SQL-based analytics, Excel analysis, Power BI and Tableau dashboards, data storytelling, and an end-to-end analytics case study.

During the internship, Devpal demonstrated dedication, discipline, and a strong willingness to strengthen his practical understanding of data analytics. He worked on data cleaning, descriptive analysis, KPI development, business reporting, dashboard creation, and interpretation of analytical findings. His work also involved tools such as SQLite, Excel, Power BI, Tableau, and Python, giving him exposure to different stages of the analytics workflow.

One of his notable strengths was his ability to approach assigned tasks systematically and translate data into meaningful business insights. He showed initiative in understanding datasets, identifying patterns, and presenting findings through structured reports and dashboards.

Based on his performance during the internship, I believe Devpal has good potential to begin and grow his professional career in Data Analytics and related entry-level roles. I am pleased to recommend him for suitable career opportunities as a fresher and wish him continued professional success.

Sincerely,

Dr. M. Geetha Pratyusha
